The hearing of Piper was the sequel to a number of summons which were served on Charleroi business men yesterday afternoon brought about by those who are active in prosecutions in alleged violations of the ancient enactment. With the installation of the new officers of the Charleroi No. 494, B. P. O. Elks this evening, George W. Risbeck will formally retire from his duties of secretaryship, the functions of which he has served continuously for the past 19 years. Mr. Risbeck has served loyally and efficiently during that time, without missing one regular meeting—a remarkable record. He retires from the post at his own request. Election of officers took place about a month ago, at which time Mr. Risbeck was not a candidate.

Gilbert E. Koedel of Donora lodge representative of district deputy will install the following officers this evening: Joseph L. Connell, Exalted Ruler; Paul A. Kimmins, Esteemed Leading Knight; Harry W. Geho, Esteemed Loyal Knight; James S. Russell, Esteemed Lecturing Knight; J. Bryant Tussing, secretary; E. W. Hastings, treasurer; William H. High, tiler; R. H. Rush, trustee; Thomas H. Wartensford, representative of Grand Lodge and Charles S. Bateman, alternate representative.

Definite steps have now been taken in forming an American Legion Boy Scout troop. Last night, in the Dugout, a group of 11 boys met with the scoutmaster, Walter H. Fielding, and furthered arrangements for what promises to be a strong and successful troop. Next Tuesday night the boys will meet and they will be given the tenderfoot examination.

The Legion members are much interested in the boy scout troop that they have undertaken to foster. The troop, it is expected, will be a large one, and great times are being looked forward to. Mr. Fielding, scoutmaster, will have as his assistants, Walter T. Bromwich and Ralph Malcolm.

Equity Cases Now Being Heard In Court

In equity court yesterday before Judge Erwin Cummins was heard the suit of John and Tera Okorn, of Roscoe against Sarah M. Ebenhock. The plaintiffs seek to compel the defendant to deed to them a half interest in a certain property at Roscoe. It appears the property was levied upon as the plaintiffs and sold at sheriff's sale, the defendant buying it in, upon certain agreement that if the plaintiffs performed certain acts she would deed back to them a half interest in the property. The defendant claims the plaintiffs failed to perform these parts of her agreement and for that reason she refused to deed them a half interest in the property.

Before Judge Brownson was heard a suit involving title to a property at Meadowlands, about opposite the Pennsylvania station. The plaintiff is John H. Cooke and defendants David H. Sefton and Bessie Sefton. Cook seeks to have a deed conveying this property to the defendants declared a fraud and of no effect. The point is raised by the family of Mr. Cooke that at the time the deed was executed he was not in a fit shape, due to excessive drinking at that time, to be mentally capable to make a deed or transfer business.

The suit of Ben Bender against Sam Sidle, of Bentleyville, a well-known merchant of that place, was heard; it involves a partnership difference, Bender seeking a receivership and accounting of a business, in which he alleges he was interested.

Yolonda Rumis Ianni, by her next friend and father, Alphonso Rumis, has filed a suit in divorce against Frederick Ianni. The libellant lives at New Eagle and was married to the respondent on June 24, 1923. She charged him with cruel and barbarous treatment and with threatening her life. She avers her marriage to him was procured through force, he having threatened to kill her if she did not marry him. Since their marriage he has almost continually mistreated her.

Stefano Natale, of Donora, in a libel filed against Concetta Natale accuses her of infidelity. They were married in 1918 at Monongahela.

TOWNER SAYS THEY ARE ALL FROM CHARLEROI

Editor Mail:—I note in last evening's issue, that one of your good "Citizens" takes exception to my slogan—"Vote for Towner for the Assembly, the Only Candidate Outside of Charleroi." From a geographic standpoint—that is my claim, and I defy successful contradiction. Reliable information in my possession is as follows:—

One of the candidates for Assembly is a valuable member of the Borough Council of Charleroi.

One of the candidates for Assembly is an equally valuable member of the same body.

One of the candidates is Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Charleroi.

If I can count, that makes three—all from Charleroi. I have been over this District like a fine tooth comb, and I have failed to find any candidates for the Assembly from any other town. Representative citizens from Donora and Monongahela requested me to become a candidate last December, basing their suggestion on the claim that "offices should be divided fairly from a geographic standpoint, among men who were worthy. I am making the campaign along those lines. The three Charleroi Candidates are all good friends of mine, and if "Citizen" wants to have any of them leave Charleroi, I invite them to come to Monongahela City, and join us in public service. In the meantime—I ask the good people of Charleroi, without exception — both [illegible] to choose your man from Charleroi for the Assembly, and then vote for the second name on the ballot, for the second place. Vote for Towner, of Monongahela City — the Only Candidate Outside of Charleroi.

Bandits Shoot Victims And Rifle Clothing

Brownsville, April 9.—(United Press).—Frank Laski, 33, and Samuel Brown, 30, both of Cleveland, Ohio, bodies pierced with bullets, are in the Brownsville General hospital today in a serious condition. The two men told the story that they were the victims of bandits. Brown and Laski were on their way to Allison, near here, looking for work, when two [illegible] stepped out from behind some bushes and ordered them to throw up their hands.

Instead of complying with the demand, the men fled and the bandits opened fire with revolvers. Brown and Laski fell. They were shot through the head, legs and bodies. The bandits searched the two men's clothing and obtaining $80 in cash and two gold watches, escaped.

The watchman of an Allison factory heard the shots and found Brown and Laski lying in a pool of blood. They were rushed to the hospital here.

SINGING OF A HYMN IS JEERED

Apropos of the case of Andrew Harmison, it is understood that the court has knowledge that in the Midland, Houston, Canonsburg section of there being held weekly meetings of emissaries of the Russian government Bolshevik ideas are taught, red literature distributed and propaganda carried on among old and young. It is said that recently an entertainment was held, in charge of a woman, said to be a Lenin representative, at which the singing of the Star Spangled Banner was made an object of jeering. It was announced that a lad would sing this national song. As he started to do so another lad stepped out and shaking his fist at the first, defied him to sing. The action was followed by cheering by this gathering.

It is said that there is in that section several hundred followers of the idea as expressed by this man in court yesterday. Harmison tried to explain that those against him were the regular miners organization. The fact of the matter, it is understood, is that those who are fighting the miners oranization are radicals, men of Bolshevik ideas, and it is these that the miners organization are trying to drive from their ranks.

Judge Cummins does not hesitate to say that the situation, by reason of the persistence of these men is spreading this Red propaganda, is a serious one.

After a thorough inquiry on the part of the police, the boys finally admitted that they were from Charleroi. The local police were notified and the truant officer sent to bring them home.

In the first of two inquests held yesterday afternoon by Coroner Wm. Greenlee, the jury returned a verdict in which it held negligence on the part of Charles Crail, when he worked in the part of the Catsburg mine which had been condemned and was killed by a slate fall, several weeks ago. Crail's companion would not go into that part of the mine which [illegible] unsafe. Crail went ahead and shortly afterwards the slate fall which killed him occurred.

The coroner's jury put no blame on John Williams of Ellsworth, for the death of a three-year-old John Dubak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dubak of Hazelkirk. Williams ran over the boy near the Old Stone school at Hazelkirk Sunday evening March 31, at 6 o'clock. It was brought out that Williams was driving slowly because of rough road and that he could not have avoided hitting the child.

RIVER ROAD IS TO BE COMPLETED

Highway Leading From Stockdale to Coal Center, Outcome of Meeting Held at Chamber of Commerce Rooms Last Evening

PRELIMINARY SURVEY ON

State Engineer W. D. Myers Informs Those Present That His Men Are Busy Making Preliminary Survey For Purpose of Determining Best Route

Unless something unforseen happens a portion of the river road leading from Stockdale to Coal Center will be completed this summer, was the word given out at a meeting of members of the Roscoe Council, citizens of Stockdale, and Roscoe, and State Highway Engineer Wayne D. Myers held at the Charleroi Chamber of Commerce rooms last night. This meeting was arranged by Secretary James T. Heffran of the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of getting some line on the work in progress.

Mr. Myers informed the assembly that his men were busy making a preliminary survey for the purpose of determining the best available route from Woods Run to Coal Center. There is a difference of opinion as to which would be the better route for the road, some contending that it should follow the railroad, which would give a straight road without grades while others state that a greater service would be rendered if the road was to lead up the hollow at Woods Run passing Howe cemetery and in this way serve a greater number of people. Mr. Myers asked for an opinion of the meeting as to which route would be of preference. The prevailing opinion was for the Howe cemetery route but he was given to understand what the people wanted first was a road and if the selection of a location would cause a delay, the route selected by the State Highway would be accepted by the people.

In answer to the question of the possibility of finishing a portion of the road this summer, Mr. Myers stated that the Highway Department would do everything possible to finish this end of the road first, that is the portion extending from Stockdale to Roscoe, and have this piece ready before next winter, so that the people of Roscoe would have an outlet before bad weather again sets in.

The Roscoe council was instructed

Fish Commissioner Tells Of A Plan To Restock State Streams

Harrisburg, April 9—(United Press)—Reduce the age limit for which fishing licenses are required from 18 to 16 years and the department of fisheries would have $600,000 to spend in re-stocking Pennsylvania's streams. That would mean many more fish than at present.

This statement was made today to the sportsmen of the state by Nathan R. Buller, veteran fish commissioner, whose code in carrying out his conservation work is "A thing worth doing is worth doing well."

Last year, Commissioner Buller said, the department had $214,392 available through the income from fishermen's licenses. This was based on the act of legislature which provided that all persons 21 years or older must pay $1.10 for a license to fish, $1 to go to the department.

This act was amended last year, lowering the minimum age at 16 too late, however to place certified copies of the law in hands of justices of the peace in the state. It therefore did not become effective until 1924, Buller said.

Under the amended fishing license law the commission estimated it would have $825,000 for fish planting. That money will be available during 1924, but most of it will not reach the treasurer until well past mid-year.

Observation by the commission's paid officers, Buller said, showed that two-thirds of the fishermen on Pennsylvania's streams are under 18 years. Should the license law be again amended to bring the minimum age to 16 the income would approximate $600,000.

With $600,090 to spend in the fisherman's behalf, the commission's worries would be half ended, Buller said.

"We could then build more hatcheries, grow more fish, stock more waters, employ more field men and generally increase our work.

"I feel sure the sportsmen would be more than willing to grant this additional revenue if they realized what it meant to them.

"The way to bring about lowering of the age limit," Buller said, "is for the fishermen to tell their representatives at the Capitol that is their wish."

COOLIDGE AHEAD IN ILLINOIS

Chicago, April 9—(United Press)—President Coolidge today was leading Senator Hiram Johnson in the Illinois presidential preference race by 19,084 votes in the unofficial count from 2,437 out of the state's 5,758 precincts.

The count: Coolidge, 185,525; Johnson, 165,841.

For Senator, Republican, ex-Governor Charles Dineen had a lead of approximately 14,000 over Senator McCormick. The count: Deneen, 165,632; McCormick, 151,785.

For governor, Republican, the count from 3,012 precincts was: Governor Len Small, 281,701; Senator Essington, 237,753.

On the Democratic side the regular organization, led by George Brennan, Democratic boss of Illinois, swept everything before it. Unofficial returns show that Brennan's uninstructed slate of delegates to the Democratic national convention received an overwhelming majority over the slate of William G. McAdoo, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, three to one in nearly all parts of the state.

Thousands of Democratic voters wrote in the names of Mayor Dever, of Chicago, and Governor Al Smith, of New ork, for president.

Power in Kilowatt-Hour.

The following figures, compiled by French officials, are worth attention: One kilowatt-hour of electrical energy will drive a sewing machine for 20 hours; clean 15 steel table knives for a year; clip 5 horses or 25 sheep; heat water for shaving for one month; light 3 cigars a day for 5 years; heat a flatiron for 3 hours; boil 2.37 gallons of water; fry 15 chops in 15 minutes; heat a curling iron for 20 mornings; incubate 250 eggs; milk 20 cows; separate 350 gallons of milk; churn 440 pounds of butter; chop half a ton of straw. Assuming these items to be approximately correct, one-third should be added to each in computing the work of a horsepower-hour.—Compressed Air Magazine.

"Roland for an Oliver."

The expression, "A Roland for an Oliver," meaning a retort for retort, or the matching of one incredible lie with another, is derived from the fanciful tales told by the old chroniclers concerning the marvelous deeds of Roland and Oliver, the two most famous of the twelve paladins of Charlemagne, says the Detroit News. These redoubtable heroes were so evenly matched that neither was able to surpass the other; and accordingly, to test their relative superiority, they met in single combat and fought for five successive days on an island in the Rhine, without either gaining the least advantage over the other.

Right to His Teeth.

After a row with his dentist, Hoffy declared that he would have something to say to that gentleman. The boys at the club would not think Hoffy would have the nerve. When he came in a week later they were not backward in putting the question direct: "So you told the dentist what you thought of him?" "Said it to his teeth," he answered firmly. "When?" they asked. "Yesterday afternoon." "He was out of town yesterday afternoon." Hoffy was not disconcerted at this. "I told you I said it to his teeth." —Baltimore News.

A Gold-Plated Carriage.

Historians agree that the most valuable carriage in the world is one found in the palace of the Trianon at Versailles, that was built for Charles X of France, and under instructions to spare no pains or cost in making it fit for the regal and rather bizarre tastes that prevailed in those days, so from the tip of the pole to the hind wheels the carriage is plated with heavy gold decorations, the cost of construction then being in excess of $500,000. Today it would be many times that sum.

Gloaming.

The gloaming came, silverly. The dew glistened on the fronds of the ferns, in the cups of the moss. The stars emerged delicately, as the eyes of fawns shining through the green gloom of the forest. . . . A cool green freshness came into the air. The stars were as wind-whirled fruit blown upward from the tree-tops. The moon, full-orbed and with a pulse of flame, led a tide of soft light across the brown shores of the world. . . . —Fiona Macleod.

Poison Ivy.

Although poison ivy is one of the worst offenders it frequently is blamed for poisoning caused by other plants. The Department of Agriculture has a list of more than 100 of such plants that grow in this country, and it is probable that there are others that may be poisonous to some persons. Not all of these plants are equally poisonous, and, too, there is great variation in the susceptibility of persons.—Scientific American.

Right Handedness

Of two pay telephones in a shop, the one on the right side took four times as much money as the one on the left. This curious influence of the dominant side of the body was lately demonstrated by evidence that speakers before a large audience have a tendency to address the right-hand side if the speaker happens to be left-handed. The same unconscious tendency may be seen in the schoolroom.

TWO FOOTPADS GET $6 FROM VICTIM

Andy Sulkosky, a resident of Bentleyville, at 10 o'clock Tuesday night, was attacked and robbed by two colored bandits in Wireton.

Sulkosky was returning from Monongahela, where he had been searching for work at the Star mine, located a short distance below that city, and decided to visit friends in Monessen before going to his home in Bentleyville. Missing the street car that would have transported him to Monessen, Sulkosky decided to walk across the bridge and was accompanied by two colored men. When they reached the other side, one of the colored men struck Sulkosky over the head, robbed him of $6, watch and chain, and threw him over a small embankment. After gaining consciousness, Sulkisky reported his loss to the constable, who made an investigation minus success.

Sleepy Hollow Church.

Sleepy Hollow church, at Tarrytown, N. Y., made famous by Washington Irving, recently celebrated its two hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary. The old edifice is just like it was when Ichabod Crane sang in the choir, says the Detroit News. Within its gray walls one may still hear the demi-semiquavers of Crane's psalmody, for it was here that the luckless hero of the "Legend of Sleepy Hollow" lifted his voice to the enjoyment of every fair maid in the community. The church has undergone only slight alterations, and is still used for worship on Sunday afternoons in summer. Thousands of visitors make pilgrimage there each year. The church is right in the heart of the country about which Irving wrote.

Author of Munchausen Tales.

The author of "Baron Munchausen's Narratives"—those fantastic tales of adventure—Rudolph Erich Raspe, was a refugee in England from German justice when he wrote his masterpiece that made him a charter member of the Ananias club, says the Detroit News. Raspe, a native of Hanover, Germany, was curator of the museum of Cassel, and was accused of stealing medals from a collection in his charge. He fled to England to escape prosecution. He obtained employment at the Dolcoath mines in Cornwall, and while there engaged created Baron Munchausen. Raspe died in Ireland in 1794 at the age of fifty-seven.

Children of the Desert.

A passion for snuff and the vanity they display in their personal appearance are the principal failings of the people of the Sahara. These with their habit of incessantly asking for presents, are the worst traits of their character, and may surely be forgiven them for the honor they pay to their women, for the love they display to their children and for the kindness they show to their animals, says the Geographical Journal. Their children are admirably brought up; they have wonderful manners, respect for their elders and unselfishness to one another to a degree which would make European parents envious.

Changing Color With Heat.

Members of the Physical society in London were interested at a recent meeting by an exhibition of specimens of paint which change their color with variations of the temperature. One of these paints is red at ordinary temperatures, but turns black in a few seconds when warmed in front of a stove, or otherwise heated to 206 degrees Fahrenheit. Another paint is yellow until heated to a temperature of 113 degrees Fahrenheit, when it becomes dark red. They are called "heat-indicating paints," but are little more than scientific curiosities.

The Smile That Failed.

A smile, I've heard somebody say, brings thirteen muscles into play; while if you want a frown to thrive you've got to work up sixty-five. Today with luck I chanced to meet. I found a quarter on the street. I picked it up and right away brought thirteen muscles into play. I blessed my luck, but later on, I grieve to say, the smile was gone, and sixty-five muscles worked like mad, for I found out the coin was bad.—Boston Transcript.

The Palmers.

The name Palmer was given to those persons, during the Middle ages, who had made pilgrimages to the Holy Sepulchre at Jerusalem, and had brought home palm branches in token of having accomplished the journey. On his return home from the Holy Land the pilgrim repaired to the church to render thanks for his successful journey and gave the palm branch to the priest, who placed it on the altar.

Links Hawaii and Arctic.

Hawaii has established radio contact with the Arctic seas, swept by icebergs, and the sunny shores of the tropical Pacific islands have met through the ether, according to messages received from the exploration party in charge of Capt. Donald B. MacMillan by Jack Barnsley, operator of a Prince Rupert amateur station and member of the American Radio Relay league.

Hard to Please.

"My ideal husband," said the girl who had been reading cheap novels, "must be a strong, silent man, full of grit, and able to bear the heat and burden of the day without flinching—one who will not hear a word said about me, and who will not utter an unkind word himself." "What you want is a deaf and dumb coal heaver," murmured her friend.

Rates and Returns

The millions of dollars' worth of telephone property in Pennsylvania represent investment savings of the people of Pennsylvania. A hundred and twenty-five thousand such investors live in this State.

In putting their money into the telephone business they had faith that the people of Pennsylvania would pay reasonable rates for good telephone service.

As the telephone business expands it is necessary to go to this same public and ask them to invest additional funds. We can secure that money only so long as rates for telephone service are such as to allow an adequate return on the money invested.

The present rates do not so allow.

That's why we are asking the very same public at this time for a moderate increase.

In other words, we are asking "of the public, for the public."

CARE OF THE LAWN.

The yearly care of the lawn consists first of a slight mulch of thoroughly rotted manure in the Winter. This is not only as protection from the cold, but supplies plant food as well. In the Spring when growth first starts, the coarser material should be removed and the lawn given a dressing of bonemeal. An application of nitrate of soda, which is best applied in solution (one oz. to two gallons of water)) will give the lawn a good start. To renovate the lawn seed can usually be sown about one-half as thickly as for new lawns.

Frequently bad spots are found. These are often due to the fact that in grading some large stone has been left in the soil which cuts off the supply of water from below. At other times the soil becoming a little sour, causes the bare spot. Dig up such an area deeply and remove the stones. Place in fresh soil, a little lime and decayed manure. It is advisable to give an extra heavy seeding also.

One's Best Friends.

It is the people who utter the bromides and platitudes that are probably one's best friends. They are sincere and unchangeable.

A Sensitive Scale.

The "grand balance" or scale used in the Bank of England is so sensitive that the weight of a postage stamp moves the index six inches.

Warden Destroys Fish Trap.

An Indian fish trap in the Charlton river, Missouri, which has been in use for 100 years, has just been destroyed by the game and fish commissioner.

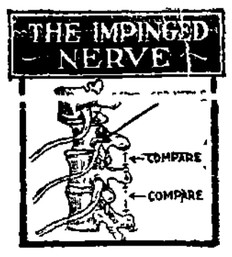
HEALTH TALK NO. 4.



SPINAL ANATOMY.

THE SPINAL CORD leaves the brain at the base of the skull and enters the spinal column. The canal running through the center of this column is for the passage and protection of the spinal cord As the spinal cord descends it gives off thirty-one pairs of nerves. Each nerve trunk as it passes through its allotted opening completely fills it.

After clearing the spinal column, each nerve branches and spreads to such an extent that the combined ramifications of the thirty-one pairs reach every cell in the body. It is by this wonderful system of nerves that the brain is enabled to control and govern the function and action of [illegible]

When this complete control exists, we are in a state of health It often is the case, however, that the vertebrae are subluxated. This subluxation causes the spinal opening to become much smaller than it should naturally be and, in consequence, the nerve which passes through the opening is impinged by the bones

It can readily be seen that a nerve affected in this way cannot transmit nerve impulses as well as a nerve that is free from pressure. As a result of this pressure the tissues at the end of the nerve becomes dis-eased If this nerve supplies a muscle, that muscle becomes paralyzed; if it supplies the stomach, some form of stomach trouble will result. Dis-ease of any organ of the body follows the impairment of the flow of vital force over the nerves supplying that organ

First-Footing in Scotland.

First-footing is a Scottish custom still existing Late in the evening of Hogmanay, December 31, in each year, thousands of the common people assemble in the vicinity of the Edinburgh Tron church to ascertain on good evidence when the new year commences, says the Detroit News. When the clock is about to strike twelve they cheer so loudly that the strokes are not heard. Instantly that it has finished they depart for the purpose of first-footing—that is, each one tries to be the first person that year to cross the threshold of his friend's house and wish him the compliments of the season. It is considered bad luck to go into a house empty-handed, and good luck is supposed to attend the resident whose "first foot" is dark-complexioned.

Punch and Judy.

The origin of this comic puppet show has been the subject of much discussion. Punch has been identified with Pontius Pilate, Judy with Judas the betrayer, or with the Jews, and the play with one of the old "Mysteries." This notion is entirely without foundation. The name Punch is simply a contraction of Punchinello (for Pulcinello, the buffoon of Neapolitan comedy), while Judy is probably derived from Judith, at one time a common woman's name. A character similar to Punch is found in the puppet-plays of Italy, Egypt, Persia, India, China and Japan. Punch and Judy shows were introduced into London in 1666 by an Italian, who erected a booth near Charing Cross for their performance.—Kansas City Star.

"Poor as Job's Turkey."

"As poor as Job's turkey," a saying often used to indicate extreme poverty, has reference to the deplorable state to which Job was reduced when delivered by God into the hands of Satan "Job's turkey," according to the popular notion, had only one feather in its tail, and had to lean against the fence to gobble The originator of the saying apparently did not realize it would have been impossible for Job to possess a turkey, since that bird is a native of America, suggests the Detroit News Thomas Chandler Haliburton of Nova Scotia, who used the pseudonym of "Sam Slick" and wrote about the doings of "Samuel Slick of Slickville," refers to "Job's turkey" in some of his writings

Guillotine "Humane" Device.

The guillotine received its name from its supposed inventor, Joseph Ignace Guillotin, a French physician who simply recommended its adoption from motives of humanity, as it would cause painless death. Guillotin lived to become one of the founders of the Academy of Medicine in Paris, and died peacefully at the age of seventy-six The guillotine was first used in Paris to put to death a criminal named Pelletier on the Place de Greve, April 25, 1792, says the Detroit News The first political victim to suffer death by this means was Dangremont, who was guillotined August 21, of the same year.

Road Hogs of Old.

There were road hogs before motorists In Europe in the Seventeenth century and for some time later the roads had only one width of good going, with a quagmire on either side If two carriages met there would be a long wrangle and possibly a fight for the sound surface Then there were the road hogs of the towns fine gentlemen who sauntered through the busy streets sending showers of mud over pedestrians, or coachmen, who drove in the gutters with even more dire results And the outcry against the first "flying coaches" was as loud as that against motors.

A Puritan Fanatic.

Praise-God Barebone was a Puritan fanatic, who was leader of the parliament convened by Cromwell, July 4, 1653, and dissolved December 13 of the same year. The Christian name borne by this enthusiast bears witness to the peculiar custom of naming in vogue among the English Puritans. It is said that his son, Doctor Barebone, was generally known as "Damned Dr. Barebone," from the fact that he was named "If-Christ-had not died-for-thee - thou-hadst-been-damned."

Maundy Money.

A relic of a very curious charity exists in the giving of money to the poor of certain London parishes on Maundy Thursday. Originally this money was accompanied by gifts of clothes and provisions, and, strangest of all, by the washing of poor people's feet by the king or queen in person Another curious point about this charity was that the number of poor persons entitled to receive it was the exact number of years which the reigning monarch had lived.

Green Elevator Boy.

The elevator boy was green at the job. Two passengers, a man and a woman, got on at the street floor "Ninth," said the latter once they were fairly started. "Sixth," said the man The car sped by the sixth floor and stopped at the ninth On the way back the man said. "Why in thunder didn't you stop at the sixth floor? The sixth is lower than the ninth." "I know that," said the elevator boy, "but the lady said 'Ninth' first."

A Poor Lot.

Madge—"Would you marry a man to reform him?" Mabel—"I suppose I shall have to—there isn't one of them that suits me the way he is now!"—London Opinion.

Macaroni.

History says that the Chinese invented macaroni. That may be right, but it's the Italians who do the eating of the stuff in our modern days. For several centuries Italy has held the secrets of manufacture. It is on record that King Louis XIII ordered a dish of macaroni while stopping at a famous inn in Tours. The average American consumer does not know the great number of forms in which the paste is fashioned by Italian manufacturers. They range from long, thin threads to short square pieces. Other shapes are stars and other varieties kneaded and twisted in all possible forms. And then there is the color. In Bologna they prefer green macaroni and vermicelli, but in Naples they prefer red.

Reversion to Armor.

The World war resulted in a reversion to the armor of medieval and post-medieval times, and if it had continued for any longer period the developments along this line would have been still more pronounced. The so-called "siege police" in Paris have been equipped with a new armor which greatly resembles the old models. A steel breastplate is made of laminated steel, attached to which there is an "apron effect" reaching to the thighs The head is protected by a helmet perforated [illegible] successfully withstood revolver bullets at a distance of 35 feet, which is fairly near for riot duty.—Scientific American.

Rights of a Mother-in-Law.

The mother-in-law in this country at all events, is a much abused institution But in China she has [illegible] her own There a new law has been passed under which divorce may be granted for the ill-treatment of a mother-in-law, or a father-in-law, for that matter, says the Detroit News This code replaces the ancient law called "Ti-li," which legalized divorce from a too talkative wife, a lack of respect for a mother-in-law, or for jealousy. One other unique reform has been made, namely, that the consent of a father and mother has to be obtained before a divorce may be granted.

Bread for France.

The principal food of the French people is bread. In an exceptional year France raises nearly enough wheat to supply its needs but after a mediocre harvest like that of 1922 it has to import large quantities from abroad. On account of the rate of exchange France in 1922 had to pay 70 francs abroad for an amount of wheat worth only 25 francs at home An agricultural congress at Paris recently organized a campaign to enrich France and its colonies to raise all the wheat it will need in 1924. The campaign will urge not so much increased acreage as better methods, better [illegible] better fertilizer.

Time From a Cat's Eyes.

The Chinese peasant who has neither watch, clock nor sundial, tells the time from the eyes of a cat The degree of dilation of a cat's eye varies through the day, contracting and expanding as the light grows stronger or dim The Chinese peasant has learned to note the size of the pupil in order to know at once the hour of the day. This method, which has not a little originality, must, however, be somewhat inconvenient if the feline timepiece should happen to be off somewhere on business of its own.—Paris Le Petit Parisienne.

Substitute for Beeswax.

It appears that a substitute for beeswax has been found in the leaves of the rafia palm, a product of the island of Madagascar. The wax is extracted by the simple process of beating the dried leaves on a mat reducing them to small bits. The particles are then gathered and boiled The resultant wax is kneaded into small cakes Experiments have been made with this substance to ascertain its real commercial value—whether it may be used for bottling purposes in the making of phonograph cylinders, etc

The Gypsies.

Gypsies are a nomadic race whose various tribes came from India into Europe during the Fourteenth or Fifteenth century, and are now widely scattered throughout Turkey, Russia, Hungary, Spain, England and other countries. By many authorities they are thought to be the descendants of low-caste Hindus, expelled by Timur about 1399 A. D The name "gypsies" was given them in England because they were originally supposed to have come from Egypt.

First Woman Preachers.

The first woman preachers were Quakers since women have from the organization of the Society of Friends shared with men the right of speaking in meeting. Rev. Antoinette Brown was the first woman in America, and probably in the world, to be ordained as a Congregationalist minister. Later she became a Unitarian. She graduated from Oberlin college in 1848 and 50 years later she received the degree of doctor of divinity from the theological seminary there.

Lapland Not a Country.

Lapland is not a country. It is only a region with indefinite boundaries, spreading into four distinct countries Norway, Sweden, Finland and Russia Norway and Sweden have a treaty agreement whereby their nomadic Lapp citizens may cross from Sweden in summer and move to Norway's northwest coast, and in the winter may cross from Norway to inland Sweden.

DANCING AS WORSHIP.

Bishop Manning has "cut off" St. Mark's church, New York, because of "dance rituals" introduced and persisted in by its rector, Dr. Guthrie, in spite of Episcopal protest and condemnation. The Bishop "declines to visit the parish and congregation" while bare-footed dancing girls continue to figure in its ritual, but the accounts indicate that Dr. Guthrie is not much disturbed by excommunication in this mild form perhaps considering it a small price to pay for his ability to draw a crowd and succ[illegible] of New York's theatres and movies. Dr. Guthrie is said to describe his terpsichorean divertissement of barefooted maidens as "a religious dance in honor of the Virgin Mary," but sober-minded and historically instructed observers will be inclined to characterize it as [illegible] ancient pagan forms of worship.

And they may recall that Nietzsche in his worship of strength and contempt of the weak, his ridicule of self-restraint as a means of moral purification, his hatred of Christian ideals, his deification of the superman as a blonde beast of prey, turned from Christian conceptions to the lawless pursuit of the merely pleasurable, aggressively vindicating naturalism and paganism. Bishop Manning may well regard Dr. Guthrie and his "eurythmic ritual" as a problem second only to the conflict between the fundamentalists and the modernists.

Society in Hartford, Conn., is said to be much excited because a bootlegger sentenced to nine months in prison gave the names of "best people" whom he served and the Judge warned these that the next time they also would be put on trial under a Connecticut statute rendering liable anybody who assists, aids or abets in the commission of a crime. Of course all States have such a statute, but as yet it seems not to have been definitely determined whether those who buy liquor form bootleggers are actually particeps criminis in the meaning of the law. At any rate only the bootlegger has been punished and neither the "best people" nor the plain people who keep him in business have been brought into court.

The Oil City, Pa., Blizzard prints the following: "Wanted, a temporary husband. Young girl 22 years of age, attractive, must marry within a week. Will pay man who marries her well, but he must leave her alone after the ceremony. Prefer gentleman of good breeding, but one who does not expect to live longer than a week. Apply L. T. E., Blizzard office." Young men have served in this capacity before—in novels—but in this case the requirement that the purchased bride-groom must "not expect to live longer than a week" may give pause to the most venturesome and clip the wings of what is doubtless a practical joke.

We are apt to think that an aeroplane, once aloft, can encounter no obstructions, but two army lieutenants who recently made a record flight from Buffalo to Mitchell Field tell of some minutes of fearful hazard while maneuvering their plane through a flock of hundreds of migrating Canadian geese. One or more of these caught in the propeller height have brought serious results.

The Assistant Secretary of the Navy made a welcome showing in his letter to Senator Wadsworth, and with the corroboration of a reputable witness, the statement leaves a distinct impression that the elder Roosevelt (as well as Archie, the younger) carried the family name unsmirched through contaminating surroundings.

Expressing an opinion doesn't cost as much as expressing a package—or a lot of people would be constantly broke.

MY HERO.

Of all the heroes laurel-crowned,
The one I most admire,
Is he who rises ere the dawn
To light the kitchen fire.
He may be ugly as a goat,
Unskilled with tongue or pen;
He may have fringes on his cuffs,
But he's a prince of men.
Most heroes have one glorious deed
By which they won their praise;
My hero goes forth every morn,
Through his precarious maze.
Gooseflesh he braves and carpet tacks.
Doors standing half ajar:
And countless chairs to bark his shins,
And leave their battle scar.
And so I sing my hero's praise,
And strike the exultant lyre.
For him who rises every morn,
To light the kitchen fire.

Medicine Is Fed into Lungs of White-Plague Victims

For the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis a medicine is being used that is inhaled directly into the patient's lungs through a tube or mouthpiece. It is composed of amplorous carbon and calcium salts which, it is declared, build up the fibrous tissues, arresting the progress of the disease. Good results are declared to have been obtained in experiments in the east.

Payroll Card System Helps in Avoiding Mistakes

Time, expense and mistakes in computing pay of employes of a large eastern company who work on an hourly basis are saved with the use of a system of cards that indicate the length of time a man has worked and the exact amount due. When a task is started, a card, marked in fifteen-minute intervals from 7 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock in the evening, is punched to show the beginning hour. Another perforation is made on quitting. This card is placed upon a master card which shows the labor prices in progression from fifteen minutes up to and including eleven hours through the perforations. For the various kinds of work, seventy master cards are used in the factory. They are kept in a [illegible] so that they may be found immediately.

Facilitating Handling of Rowboats

Ordinarily it requires the efforts of two men to launch a rowboat, but one man can easily do the work if the rowboat is provided with a small bronze roller as shown in the drawing. The detail shows how such a roller is attached; a wooden skeg keel is fastened to the main keel at the stern by means of iron plates and lag-screws, and a recess is cut in the skeg to accommodate the roller, which is held in place by means of two bronze side plates. The roller must, of course, turn freely between these plates. A steel or iron roller should not be used, as it soon rusts and then becomes useless. The roller should be kept well greased in order to obtain the best results.

Two-Element Tube Needs No B-Batteries

Makers of reflex-circuit sets will be interested in a tube that has recently made its appearance. The tube has but two elements, hence its name—the "diode." It is said to combine the clear reproduction of the crystal with the sturdiness and reliability of the tube, and to operate on less than ½ amp. from a single dry cell. No B-batteries are required. It is adapted for use in all reflex circuits, and requires no adjustments for changes in wave length.

TROUTING IN APRIL.

There is sunlight on the mountain-top, but dew still bathes the vale,
The eagle's flying high in air, but the pheasant's in the swale.
And from the upland meadow comes the whistle of the quail.
The winter's gone, the spring has come, and buds are all aburst.
The bobolink sings merrily, his solo oft rehearsed,
While each laddie tells his lassie she's his "dearest" and his "first."
Then down the stream I hie me, with rod, old-used rod and reel,
With naught to spy upon me, but the patient grazing kine,
While each ripple looks like silver in the morning's warm sunshine.
With feet on sandy shingle, or stopped, knee-deep in stream;
The worries of the yesterday, appear like far off dreams:
I'm once again a boy myself, and all things joyous seem.
If I can catch the wary trout, I'm satisfied, and yet,
I never kill my spotted friends without a true regret;
And drop the small fish back, to leap in the river's sparkling feet.
Pray God the love of nature on your soul may never clog.
The bird love-songs, the scent of spring, the universal joy,
Go rushing; you'll forget your age, and be again a boy!

MAN DIES OF HEART TROUBLE

Coroner William Greenlee yesterday conducted an autopsy into the death of Eugene Hirsch, aged 45 years who was found dead in the driver's seat of his car at the garage at his home on Market Avenue Monongahela, the jury returning a verdict that his passing was due to heart failure

A Monongahela doctor stated that there were no traces of carbon monoxide or other poisoning, or marks which would lead to the belief that he had taken his life as had been intimated in the locked garage at his home following the discovery of his body

It developed that Hirsch was seen in a pool room at Monongahela Saturday night about midnight, and it is presumed by authorities that he returned to his garage with his machine and death occurred while he was seated in his machine at the driver's wheel.

The mystery surrounding the case is the fact that the door and windows of the garage were locked on the inside and the locks were of such a pattern that they could not have been accidentally closed It is believed however that Hirsch fully intended leaving home as he had secured $300 from the First National Bank and the car was in condition to make a trip The money was found on his person

Chief Burnworth had to force an entrance to the locked garage in order to examine the remains Hirsch evidently had died without struggling as the hands were grasping the rim of the car and his feet were in position on the gear apparatus.

The body was removed to the L. M. Frye morgue and prepared for burial. The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the late home in Markell avenue Interment will be in the Monongahela cemetery.

Falcon Exhausted by Flight Captured on Ship

One of the most recent additions to the London zoo is a peregrine falcon which, alighting on a vessel in the Atlantic, a thousand miles from land, was captured and brought to London. It is still a mystery how birds can exist during these terrible journeys across the seas.

This falcon had evidently completed half the journey on which he set out, and there is no reason to doubt that the strongest members of the tribe do succeed where this one failed.

All hawks (the peregrine falcon is one of the most beautiful of them) are swift and strong on the wing. Our ancestors set high value upon good specimens, which were trained to hunt and bring down game.

The king's falconer was a personage of some importance. There are records of the sport so far back as 2,000 years ago. The falconer carried a bird on his wrist, and when the game had traveled a certain distance the hawk was released. It gave chase and brought down the game by swooping on it from above.

In India falcons were trained to hunt deer and similar large game. Rising high in the air, the bird descended with lightning speed and struck its talons into the head of the animal, which thus became frightened and panic-stricken and was easily caught up by the hunt.—London Tit-Bits.

Paul Revere Was Artist, Engraver and Dentist

Paul Revere, famous for his historical ride during the Revolutionary war, seems to have been one of those men who can do anything and do it well. He was an artist and an engraver of both wood and metal. He was a silversmith of rare skill, and he even turned his attention to dentistry in the early days when dentistry was barely beginning to be a science. There is still extant one of his advertisements of 1776, reading:

"Whereas, many persons are so unfortunate as to lose their Foreteeth by Accident, and otherways, to their great Detriment, not only in looks, but speaking both in Public and Private—This is to inform all such, that they may have them Replaced with artificial Ones, that looks as well as the Natural, and answers the End of Speaking to all Intents, by Paul Revere."

When, quite a while after Bunker Hill, it was desired to remove the body of General Warren from its first resting place, it was Paul Revere who identified it by an artificial tooth and the wire he had used to fasten it in.—Detroit News.

In State of Ignorance

A man who said he lived in Chicago stood before the judge in City court a few days ago to answer to a charge of vagrancy.

"On what street do you live?" the judge asked.

"I just can't remember the name of that street, your honor," replied the prisoner.

"Well, does it run east and west or north and south?" queried the judge.

"Well, sir, I'm not positive which way it does run. I never was no good on directions."

"You should be in vaudeville," the judge said, when he ordered the man discharged.

"Just where is that town, judge?" asked the man. "Seems like I don't remember I ever heard of that place before."—Indianapolis News.

Radio Used by Police

When the telephone was perfected it was considered a valuable ally of the police in apprehending escaping criminals, but the automobile has largely spoiled its usefulness. One person can only phone to one place at one time, while a bandit in an automobile may be going elsewhere in any direction. Police departments are now adopting printing telegraphs and the radio as a supplement to the phone. Outlying and suburban police stations are equipped with receiving apparatus, and one operator at the central station can flash the description of the fleeing criminal in all directions instantly, laying down a barrage of publicity through which it is more difficult to escape.

He Was Game

There was a very pretty nurse passing in and out. The patient eyed her with admiration. By way of a pleasantry the doctor said: "Be a good boy and I'll prescribe a kiss for you at four o'clock."

But at four o'clock an extremely homely nurse came on duty, as the physician knew she would. However, the next day he ventured to ask the patient how things had gone.

"I took my medicine," briefly reported the young man.

FORMER HEAD IS A VICTIM OF HEART DISEASE

Wilmington, Del., April 9.—(United Press).—Samuel M. Knox, former president of the New York Shipbuilding Company, Camden, died here last night of heart disease. He was stricken while visiting his brother, William W. Knox, who is ill. He was 66 years old, and lived in Philadelphia.

Mr. Knox was chairman of the board of directors of the shipbuilding company at the time of his death. He resigned the presidency in 1917.

He was a passenger on the Lusitania when she was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine in 1915. He is declared to have never fully recovered from the shock and exposure of this experience.

The police noticed the machine parked in the rear of the Moose club in Monongahela at noon Monday, and on making investigation found the liquor. The owner evidently had witnessed their examination for he failed to put in an appearance to claim the car, when it was driven away to the police station.

WHEELER SAYS IT'S ALL A "FRAME UP"

Washington, April 9. — (United Press).—Denouncing the indictment against him as a "frame-up" by the Republican national committee to balk the uncovering of a "great conspiracy," Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana today declared investigation of the department of justice and of Harry M. Daugherty would not be stopped by the indictment.

Wheeler, chief prosecutor of the Daugherty committee, was indicted late yesterday by a federal grand jury at Great Falls, Mont., on a charge of illegally accepting a fee in connection with oil land cases for the Gordon Campbell interests since he became a member of the Senate.

Wheeler was full of fight today as he prepared to go back to Montana to demand an early trial. He decided this was the best thing to do, after a long conference with Senator Walsh, his colleague, and other Democratic leaders. Meantime, bond for Wheeler's appearance in court is to be arranged by wire today.

EX-SERVICE MAN DIES IN CRESSON, PA

Nicholas Halechko, wellknown ex-service man of Charleroi, and employed at the First National bank as note teller and general bookkeeper for a period of four years, died today at 12 o'clock at Cresson, where he has been a patient for the past year. The deceased is a graduate of Douglas Business college, and was familiarly known among his many business and social associates as "Nick." He lived in Sunnyside for a number of years before coming to Charleroi. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Marie Halechko, and daughter of Sixth street. Further notice will be announced in tomorrow's issue of the Mail.

RIVER ROAD TO BE COMPLETED

to get busy and secure the necessary right-of-way so that as soon as the survey was completed and a route selected that bids could be asked for at once.

Mr. Heffran asked Mr. Myers as to what progress was being made on the Maple Creek road which is to be resurfaced and he was informed that bids would be asked for within two weeks and that the road would be of cement. It is the intention of the department to begin the work at the Colvin Hill end and work toward Charleroi so that a good detour would be available by the way of the Lover road. This detour could be used until the road is finished to the Twin Bridges. A detour to be used while work on this end of the road is in progress has not been selected but it is though possible to divert traffic by way of Speers hill through Twilight and Lover. All traffic from Charleroi and up-river towns to Pittsburgh will be by way of Lock Hill and Monessen while this road is under construction.

There will be practically no change in the location of the Maple Creek road with one possible exception. It is the intention of the department to eliminate the sharp left hand turn at the intersection of the Bentleyville and Monongahela road at the Fallowfield election house. Otherwise the present roadbed will be followed.
